FRANCES C. GRISCOM WINS THE WOMEN'S CHAMPIONSHIP IN A BRILLIANT GAME.

Miss Frances C. Griscom, of the Merion Cricket nish Philadelphia, won the women's golf champlouship of the United States yesterday in brilliant tyle on the links of the Shinnecock Hills Golf She defeated Miss Margaret Curtis, the sevgateen-year-old Boston crack, by 6 up and 4 to play, Fifteen minutes before the final round started not one man in a thousand would have dared to pre-sict such a high victory, and it must be confessed that three out of every five based their hopes, and some of their finances, on Miss Curtis. The depated golfer failed lamentably to show the high class form that she gave on the previous day when she amazed the Shinnecock fraternity by beating Miss Hoyt in a twenty hole game. In driving Miss Curtis was only ordinary, missing more times from the tee than she has in all the former four days put together. Miss Griscom was far the superior in her tron approaches, and her steadiness did not break in the least. The new champion, in fact, played the best golf of the game in her hands. So high a championship score has never before been made in the final round of United States women's championship. When Miss Hort won her honors for the first time, in 1896, at Morris County, she beat Mrs. Arthur B. Turnure Morris Country Score of 2 up and 1 to play. The following year, at Essex County, Miss Hoyt beat Miss N. C. Sargent by 5 up and 4 to play, and in 1886 at Ardsley, she beat Miss Mande K, Wetmore by 5 up and 3 to play Last year, at the Philadelphia Country Club, Mrs. Underhill won the highest honor by beating Mrs. Caleb F. Fox by 1 up and 1 to play.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement C. Griscom were both on the links, and the entire Griscom party after the game enjoyed the applause the champion's caddie, her brother, Rodman E. Griscom, receiving generous credit for his share in the victory. The day turned out to view the final struggle. Over one thousand persons saw the match, and enthu came in on the early trains from as far as Amagansett on the east and Quoque and Westhampton n the west. Miss Griscom had the honor at the start and drove a safe ball, carrying the sand bunker about egaty yards from the tee. Miss Curtis disappointed her friends by falling to live up to her long driving reputation, for she topped the ball, but got a carry of over one hundred yards. The ball however, ran off to the right, and fell into high grass back of the stables. She got out well from a mashle shot, but only obtained a distance of about sixty feet, and her third fell short, too. Mes Griscom used a brassie on her second and carried well, but the ball fell into the road. She picked it out cleverly with her mashle and landed well on the green. She putted out safely in 5, win-ming the hole. Miss Curtis needed 7. From the second tee the latter made another miserable drive, topping the ball and sending it into the high grass about eighty yards distant. She got out well in 2 but landed in the bunker on the next, and her fourth shot just raised the ball haif way up the embankment, and it rolled back into the sand. It took her 5 to clear the obstruction, and her chances for the hole were gone. Miss Griscom, from a perfect drive, played her second short, remember ing probably Miss Hoyt's fatality on the previous day, when the latter tried to carry the bunker from a cleek shot. Miss Griscom was almost hole high in 3, and, having strokes to spare for the hole, putted safely and won in 6, to 8 for her opponent. The lamentable lack of confidence and steadiness in Miss Curtis's game was a blow to the friends of the clever Bostonian golfer, and her position as favorite to win dropped many points. A return to her best form appeared on the third hole. Each drove well over the rallroad track, and then the Philadelphian made her first mistake, topping her approach and sending the ball barely ten feet. Miss Curtis followed with a silced ball into high gress but got out beautifully, and, putting up dead to the hole in 4, just missed running down by two inches. Miss Griscom atoned for her bad shot by reaching the green in 3, and the hole was halved in 5. Miss Gurtis showed her driving capacity in fine fettle in the drive over the track for the fourth hole. She ran over thirty yards beyond, getting a perfect He, while Miss Griscom fell just over the ralls, on the far side of the track. She carried the ball out with a shot worthy of the coming champion, and a masterful approach placed her ball on the green twenty feet from the hole in 3. Miss Curtis ran well beyond the green in 2, but came down dead in 3 and won in 4. Miss Griscom made a noble effort to halve from a long put. The latter's lead was now reduced to 1, and when the Bostoming won the next hole, tleing the game on the fifth green, her friends picked up courage and premagnificent grive, the ball striking the edge of the decline over the green 162 yards from the tee, and rolling fifteen yards beyond. She was up in 2 and boled out it is 1800 County of the annual competition for the President's Cup, offered by John D. Crimmins, was played. The scores were as follows:

Gross Handicap Net. 2 and holed out in 4. Miss Griscom got into more trouble, for she landed in the bunker guarding the green, and, being forced to play back, failed to get out of the sand. She got over nicely on the next trial but had no chance to halve, and really gave up the hole. Miss Curtis threw away the from a two-foot put. On her drive the ball failed to carry the track, falling under the steps erected to ascend the railroad bank. She was allowed to pick up without penalty and drop back. Miss Griscom fared no better, falling in the ditch beyond the tracks, getting a worse lie to play out on her next shot. The second and third shots of both brought the balls nearer the green, and they were on the she was dead to the hole. The latter was then I down. The seventh-357 yards-was played faultlessly by each, the balls lying close together on the trives. In three the white spheres lay ten feet from the hole. A lucky and well played put gave Miss Griscom the hole in 4, one under bogis. Miss Miss Griscom the hole in a one used.

Curtis made a grand attempt to run down for a half, but her ball stopped short. Although getting the hole in bogie 5, she saw the hole snatched from her. Again, on the eighth, did Miss Griscom's help, at the winner. She from her again, on the eighth, did Miss Griscom's experior steadiness bring out the winner. She made one of the grandest drives of her entire tournament play clearing the railroad track in professional style and gesting a perfect lie, forty yards beyond. Miss Curtis was again poor from the tee, the bail failing upon the side of the bank. She got over handsomely, and then disappointed her friends by pulling her brassle stroke into high grass. Her forth shot barely got the bail out. Miss Griscom followed up her perfect drive by a brassle of equal ability, and overran the green in 2. She had the hole easily in her grasp, and putted up safely for a 6. Miss Curtis was forced to take h.

Golf of rare and magnificent excellence was seen on the long ninth hole. 489 yards. The champtonship rivals did themselves proud from the tee. Miss Curtis did her prettiest, but only exceeded her opponent by 5 yards. Three long shots then followed at the sloping hillside, all brassles except one from that by Miss Curtis. Yet, after playing three, the later was on top of the hill, some 20 yards in advance. Miss Griscom excelled on the approach, while Miss Curtis was too hard, and ran several yards beyond the green. The former won amid senerous applause in a bogle 6, a score that was only equalled by Miss Hoyt on the previous day. Miss Curtis was again forced to make the effort to haive, but failed from a long put. At the turn of the game the Bostonian was forced to see the heavy lead of four holes plied up against her. The crowd on the hill at this time numbered close to one thousand persons, and as the competitors drove of for the tenth, most of them sat down on the hillocks to await the return to the tenth green. Miss Griscom narrowly missed winning from a 20 foot put, her hall rimming the cup. It was halved in § The Philadelphian had luck on her side on the elevatin green, for, topping her approach shot, her ball, nevertheless, rolled up dead to the hole, and she won in four. Miss Curtis played two long shots as perfectly as any she made during the day, getting to the green, 221 yards. Her third overran the hole, and gain she had to try for half at 20 feet, but saw the ball stop short by six inches, and Miss Griscom had the increased lead of five.

AMERICANS WIN AT QUEBEC. THE CANADIAN TEAM BEATEN BY FIVE HOLES.

Quebec, Sept. 1.-The annual international golf match between the United States and Canada was decided here to-day on the Quebec links, resulting in a victory for the players from the United States by five holes. The match was most interesting, and was followed by a large number of spectators, including a number of American visitors, who had several opportunities of applauding the fine shots made by their countrymen. When eighteen holes had been played, at 1:15. Canada was leading by one hole, and this was sufficient to draw an extra crowd at the afternoon game. Strange to say, the four Canadian favorites-Vere Brown, the present champion; Lyon, ex-champion; Kerr and Smith met with defeat. Reid appeared to be the favorite this morning and succeeded in beating his adversary by 9 up.

The result of the match, morning and afterno was as follows, eighteen holes being played in the morning and ei	gnteen	in	the afternoon:

There is no doubt that the visitors were rather handicapped on these links, which they consider shorter and more tricky than those over which they generally play in the United States, but the najority of the Canadians were in the same prelicament, never having played here before. When half the match was over the visitors were entertained at luncheon by the Quebec Golf Club, and this evening they were also entertained at linner at the Garrison Club.

YACHTING.

INDIAN HARBOR REGATTA PROVIDES EXCELLENT SAILING.

Indian Harbor yachtsmen were feeling in the best of spirits last night, because, with the assist-ance of a strong breeze out of the east yesterday they had been able to give one of the best and most enjoyable regattas that Long Island Sound ever knew. The weather was magnificent. Thirtythree yachts were started in these races by a committee composed of Frank Bowne Jones, Charles F. Kirby and C. P. Tower, and the finishes were made in excellent time.

The schooners were started at 12:40, but, as the Wayward declined to go into the same race with wayward declined to go into the same race with the Katrina, they sailed for separate prizes, al-though started together. At the end it was found that the Wayward would have won on corrected time if she had remained in the competition. At 12:50 the thirty-sixes left in this order: The Anoatok, the Escape, the Freya, the Flora and the O Shima San, the latter making a poor start. All the vessels were on the starboard tack for the beat to the first mark. The new club course was found just right for the wind, and after the first three and a half miles' beat to The Cows Islands the various classes all went southwesterly to different marks in the Sound, and then home, the schooners salling twice over a twelve mile triangle and the other classes salling smaller triangles, which gave them courses of eighteen or twelve miles, according to their size. The second leg was a reach and the third leg a broad reach for all classes.

At 12:55 the Enproxi crossed a little to leeward of the Oiseau, followed by the Alerion and the Marguerite. The raceahouts all got away in a bunch, with the Scamp, the Raider and the Colleen in front and the Spindrift, the Snapper and the Signature of the Spindrift, the Snapper and the Signature of the Signat following. The Snapper and the Sis tried the port tack almost immediately, while the Spindrift carried away her peak halyards in the lumpy seaway and retired to a neighboring port.

The 1:05 start sent off a good fleet in this order: Win or Lose, Vagabond, Kenwood, Murmur, Robin Hood, Rochelle, Amomo and Adelaide. These were followed at 1:10 by the Mongoose, Ox, Kazaza, Spunk and Vera.

The Moya, Hijinks and Wee Win brought up the rear at 1db. There was a goodly fleet of large steam yachts collected to see the sport, including the Maxwells' Kismet, the Duchess, the Viva. George B. Wilson's Anita, the Scionda and many others. A cup was given for the raceabouts by J. Kennedy Tod, and another was given by Commodore C. T. Wills for the 30-foot class, these cups being in addition to the regular club prizes in these being in addition to the regular club prizes in these classes.

At the end of the first round the Alerion was 8 minutes and 38 seconds behind the Enpronzi the new 30-footer built by Woods for Rear Commodore Alfred Peats. In the second round the Alerion did surprising sailing in making up nearly the whole difference, as the wind lest some of its power. She did the best sailing and eventually she won the race by the narrow margin of five seconds, taking both the cups for her class. Until the figuring out of the time allowance it was thought that Rear Commodore Peats had won, when he made an exciting finish just ahead of the Oiseau, and he was being congratulated on all sides when the damper arrived in the news of his defeat by five seconds.

demper arrived in the news of his defeat by five seconds, George Gartland won a first prize with his smart little Robin Hood, and Edward Kelly's Rochelle did excellent work in her class. In spite of starting last, the Sis, owned by F. T. Bedford, gave the raceabout fleet a good pounding in the seaway, the only boat that was near her at the finish being H. M. Crane's Raider.

The 36-footers O Shima San and Anoatok did not appear at the finish, and the could not be seen anywhere. It was thought peculiar that they should both give up. The Anoatok was ahead nearly six minutes at the end of the first round.

THE LARCHMONT REGATTA

The races at the Larchmont Yacht Club did no bring a large list of starters, there being only ter to cross the mark. The wind was everything that could be desired, but two of the best contests were spoiled by the breaking down of the competing yachts. Correspondence of The Chicago Record.

The Crow Indians are gradually dying out, chiefly from contagious diseases. There is but little intemperance among them. It is a crime to sell liquor to an Indian or to bring it upon the reservation, and the law is strictly enforced, therefore they are not in the habit of drinking except when they wander off the reservation. But there is a great deal of tuberculosis, scrotula and such diseases. These are the causes of many of the deaths. There were twenty-two cases of smallpox on the reservation last year, but none of them were fatal. The census of the tribe has just been taken, showing a total of 1.841, or 51 less than last year. The year hefore the number fell off thirty, and that has been the average decrease for several years.

The landlord at the hotel tells me that for several years all his vegetables and hay have been furnished him by an Indian named Stops, who has a good garden and produces good crops.

When Indians come into the agency they usually take their meals at the hotel, sometimes fifty or sixty a day, but the laudlord says there is no money in feeding them, because they eat so much. He has to pay is and if cents a pound for meats, and Correspondence of The Chicago Record.

every Indian will eat a pound or more at a meal. They are passionately fond of los cream, and nearly every day several call at the hotel to inquire if it is to be served at dinner. If so, they stay. If not, they come again.

THE RECORDS.

The Brooklyn players jumped back into their old form in the game at Washington Park yester day, and, playing baseball of the best sort, defeated their Philadelphia rivals in the "rubbe of the series of five. The champions kept the three thousand spectators applauding right through the contest. Their work was of the most brilliant sort, and if Hanlon's men played the same kind of baseball all of the time no team in the country would be licensed to win more than an occasions game, McGinnity, the "Iron Man," pitched with telling effect right through. A muffed fly by Jones caused by a collision with Dahlen, gave the Quakers their first run. Lajoie's three-bagger was responsible for the other run in the uinth inning. Dahlen stopped a pitched ball with his hand, and was declared out by Umpire Hurst. The spectators considered it a peculiar decision. The home players took the lead in the third inning, and never felt in any danger of being overtaken. The score:

SPIRITED PLAY AT PROSPECT PARK.

FINAL STRUGGLE FOR THE HONORS IN THE HAN. DICAP TOURNAMENT TO COME.

Park handicap lawn tennis tournament yesterday afternoon was spirited and brilliant. More than half of the matches in 'he men's singles were finished, and in the mixed doubles the only contest remaining on the schedule is the final struggle for the honors. F. C. Fenning, one of the local experts, won decisive victories over Henry Giese and Chauncey McGovern. place in the semi-final bracket and is the only player who has wen his position in that round The interscholastic player of the Brooklyn Boys High School, James Bunn, came through the day with flying colors. Bunn plays a fast and aggressive game at the net, voileying skilfully and accurately. W. P. Eberhard, former Polytechnic Institute crack, and John Brooks, the Onteora veteran won their initial matches in the singles. Brooks had an easy mark, but Eberhard drew a danger ous opponent in Howard Butler. Had the latter

TURNING TOWARD M'GUIRE

HILL MEN TO PUSH HIM AS A COMPRO-MISE CANDIDATE.

CROKER-MURPHY PEOPLE, HOWEVER, WILL NOT LISTEN TO THE SUGGESTION AT PRESENT-A MYSTERIOUS TYPEWRITTEN STATEMENT.

The next move of the Hill Democrats, it is understood, will be to push James K. Mc-Guire, chairman of the Democratic State Executive Committee, as a compromise candidate for Governor. It was said last night at the Hoffman House that ex-Senator Hill inspired a certain mysterious typewritten statement which appeared soon after Chairman Campbell left town on Friday night. The statement says 33 2 7728 9 1 Totals33 5 9 27 12 2 that Mr. McGuire has thrice carried the Republican city of Syracuse as a candidate for Mayor; that he is an earnest and loyal Democrat, and that his name may be the happy solution of the present difficult problem which the State leaders are facing. In their present fighting mood the Croker-Murphy people will not listen to any suggestion that McGuire go at the head of the ticket. He is a Hill man, and that is sufficient

Controller Coler yesterday called on Hugh McLaughlin, the Brooklyn leader, at his home in Remsen-st. The Governorship situation, in the opinion of many, rests with McLaughlin. He and Mr. Coler have always been on good terms, outwardly at least, but it is said that of late the "old man" has grown cold toward the Controller. Mr. Coler "hurt" a lot of McLaughlin's friends when he assisted in the condemnation by the city of the Long Island Water Supply Company's plant, for which McLaughlin's friends wanted a round million of dollars. They got only $570,000. When the Controller was that he had merely called to pay his respects to the leader of the Kings County organization, and that his attitude toward the Governorship nomination was not changed in the least. M'LAUGHLIN AND TAMMANY HALL

The opinion is strengthened now that Mc-Laughlin has seen his lieutenants, that he will do nothing to antagonize Tammany Hall. He seldom wins a victory by fighting for it, and with advancing years he is less disposed to measure strength with opponents than formerly. His friends say that he will take a middle course, keep on fairly good terms both with Croker and Hill, and help to nominate some other than Coler for Governor.

CONFERENCE AT THE HOFFMAN HOUSE Richard Croker, ex-Senator Edward Murphy National Committeemen Norman E. Mack, of Buffalo; Congressman James D. Richardson, of Tennessee, and Daniel J. Campau, of Michigan, were in conference in Room No. 309 of the Hoffman House yesterday morning. Mr. Murphy was asked if he expected to see Hugh Mc-Laughlin. He replied that he had no appointment with the Brooklyn leader, but that he would see him some time within the next few days. He expressed the opinion that Coler would get about seventy-five votes in the State E. LESTER'S COMEDIAN BURNED. convention. When asked with reference to with the Elizabeth Baseball Club on the Orange | John B. Stanchfield's chances, he answered: Oval to-day. Orange put up a fine game of ball, the "Mr. Stanchfield is a popular man among all John B. Stanchfield's chances, he answered: classes of Democrats."

Mr. Murphy, in commenting on the proposal to locate the National Headquarters in the St. James Building, where the State Headquarters are now, said: "It would be a very good thing to have the National Headquarters near the State Headquarters so that they could cooperate." The ex-Senator started for Elberon at noon.

Norman E. Mack had the following to say in regard to the candidacy of Senator William F. Mackey for Governor: "Senator Mackey will have the solid delegation of Eric County behind him in the convention, and will also have a large number of other delegates from nearby counties. I think Senator Mackey will be nominated for Governor. He will have a hundred votes in all north of Syracuse. A year ago I had assurance of Mr. Croker, Senator Hill, Senator Murphy and other leaders that they would support a western man for Governor. You couldn't go any further west than Buffalo unless we went to Fort Erie, and then there would be some suspicion that the man might be a Canadian. We are going to hold the State leaders to their promise. Acting on their assurance we selected Senator Mackey and have been working

Mr. Croker, who was sitting near Mr. Mack, laughed and said: "If I don't keep my promise

I suppose I'll be in great danger." Mr. Mack then continued: "William F. Sheehan came to Buffalo and said he was going to wipe up the ground with us. He came in a comparative stranger. (Some one suggested "carpet-bagger".) Yes, carpet-bagger. Sheehan said that he was going to try to prevent the Crokerizing of Buffalo."

CROKER'S DEFINITION OF "COLERIZNG." The word "Crokerize" set Mr. Croker to laughing. A minute later he said: "I suppose Mr. Sheehan went up there to do some 'Colerizing.' "What do you mean by 'Colerizing?" " asked "Knocking down a leader," answered Mr. Croker. Then he laughed again.

Mr. Mack went on: "Sheehan made the issue that he was going to down the men who stood for Bryan against Hill in the Kansas City Convention. He said he was going to try to destroy the Bryan influence in this end of the State, but be did not succeed. He made the issue and

Mr. Mack was asked if it were true, as re-Mr. Mack was asked if it were true, as reported, that Senator Mackey, who was nominally out for Governor, was really trying to be Lieutenant-Governor.

"Senator Mackey," was the reply, "will go before the Democratic Convention with one hundred votes for Governor. He is not an aspirant for Lieutenant-Governor, and the report that he is merely using the candidacy for Governor to become a tall to somebody else's kite is false.

become a tail to somebody else's kite is false Mr Mack, following a suggestion from Mr. Proker, said that "Tammany Hall and Mr. Proker are not such objects of hatred as most people think." CROKER TELLS HOW THEY LOVE HIM.

"I notice that they are always anxious about Tammany Hall on Election Day," interjected Mr. Croker. 'They don't seem to have it in for Mr. Croker then, do they? I suppose I could go up in the countles up the State and make speeches if I was in a cage. How they would like to get at me!" And the Boss chuckled as he ended his remark.

Mack, "and made a speech, I could fill the good talk for me to make all over the State."

"In my opinion there is no significance in the fact that the Syracuse delegates are committed to McGuire, nor do I think that the Coler men in the convention can be switched to McGuire," said Mr. Mack, answering a question.

Wilson S. Bissell, of Buffalo, Postmaster-General under the last Cleveland Administration, was at the Hoffman House last night, on his way home from Bar Harbor. He refused to talk politice.

troller Coler, who saw the old man at his house in Remsen-st., before he started for the auction room. Mr. Coler stayed an hour with Mr. Mo-Laughlin. After reaching the auction room Mr. McLaughlin received a number of the district leaders and officeholders. Among those who called were Police Commissioner York, Bridge Commissioner Shea, ex-Congressman Clancy and Sheriff Walton.

The Democratic Assembly District conventions will be held on Thursday night. The Brooklyn delegates and their friends will go to Saratoga on a special train over the Central on Monday of netx week. There will be fully three hundred and fifty persons on the train, and the headquarters at Saratoga will be at the Grand Union. Bridge Commissioner Shea and Police Commissioner York will head the delegation. Mr. McLaughlin has not yet made up his mind about going. James Shevlin is at Saratoga now.

KEAHON DENIES A REPORT.

NOT INVOLVED IN A QUARREL BETWEEN CROKER AND CARROLL, HE SAYS.

P. H. Keahon, who defeated James W. Boyle in a contest for the leadership of the VIIth Assembly District at the recent primaries, was angry yesterday over a published report that he had been entangled in an alleged quarrel between Richard Croker and John F. Carroll. The report had Kanhon, Commissioner Nagle, Maurice Featherson and others conferring to overthrow Mr. Croker. Mr. Keahon telegraphed a lengthy denial from Nyack to Alderman Culkin, deputy leader of the district. Mr. Culkin said last night that Mr. Keahon had denied seeing Nagle or Featherson, and that he had gone at once to his summer home, in Nysch, and had not had time to confer with any person. Mr. Culkin said: Mr. Keahon is an organization man, first, last and all the time. We believe this malicious report has been started by friends of Boyle to hurt Mr. Keahon with the organization. The report was manufactured from start to finish, so far as Mr. Keahon is concerned. He knew nothing about the matter-absolutely nothing about it. ONLY FOUR EASTERN STATES TO WORK asked about his visit to Mr. McLaughlin he said BRYAN MANAGERS DECIDE TO CONFINE THEIR ACTIVE CAMPAIGN TO THEM.

Mack, of this State, the members of the Democratic National Sub-Committee, in charge of the National headquarters to be established in this city this week, held a conference yesterday afternoon at the Hoffman House and adjourned till Wednesday next, when James E. Guffey, of Pennsylvania, will be present. At that time the sub-committee will select a headquarters. It was decided yesterday to confine active campaign work in the East to New-Tork, New-Jersey, Connecticut and Maryland, and to the doubtful Congress districts in Pennsylvania. Mr. Stone, after the conference adjourned, said that the National Committee now had sufficient money to carry on its work.

OLIVER BRINGS RAINBOWS FROM ALASKA "Jimmie" Oliver, of Paradise Park, returned to the city yesterday after a visit to Sunrise City, Alaska, where he and O. H. P. Belmont are in-terested in a gold mine. Mr. Oliver spent the aftermoon at the Hoffman House and told his friends that he had seen Mr. Bryan on his way home from Sunrise City, and that the candidate was confident of carrying Indiana, Kentucky, West Virginia and Maryland. Mr. Oliver was so full of optimistic speculation as to what the Democrats would do that one of his friends for got the name of the mining town, and asked him. "You said the name of that place was Rainbow, didn't you, Jimmie?"
